3D SERVICES TEAM

Each day of an ABC Imaging 3D specialist is filled with inspiring and unique projects that require drive and passion to produce. The underlying goal is to understand our clients' needs and ensure it's reflected in the work delivered. The common thread shared among ABC Imaging 3D services' client base (including architects, engineers, virtual design professionals, and novice design entrepreneurs) is that they aren't designing for 3D printing; they're designing concepts and ideas that they want to share physically. Some of these designs are presented to the 3D team using professional 3D CAD software tools while others consist of 2D drawings, rough sketches, or a physical model in need of 3D scanning or reverse engineering in order to be modified and made useful to the customer.

The primary responsibility of an ABC Imaging 3D specialist is to take the clients designs, concepts, and ideas and prepare them for 3D printing before physically producing and finishing the model for presentation. This service allows the client to put most of their energy on the design while ABC Imaging does the hard work of developing an effective 3D model.

ABC Imaging 3D print locations use printers specializing in custom manufacturing prototypes and custom architectural models. Focusing on these types of 3D models is ABC Imaging's "sweet-spot", and by combining the 3D printed model with laser cut designs or other fabricated materials, ABC Imaging 3D services is well positioned to provide custom modeling and one-off prototyping services. Some of these custom projects include: residential, religious, and commercial models, urban planning and terrain models, aircraft fuel gauge covers, sculptures for jewelry, faces of celebrities, and much more!

Each 3D specialist has a background in working with design software and hands-on experience with 3D printers and other digital devices such as laser cutters and CNC machines. Our 3D specialists are experienced and patient individuals who ask questions to ensure their models are exactly what the customer envisions; but most importantly, ABC Imaging's 3D team understands the finer details to successfully execute building a 3D project to perfection.

Under Phil Magenheim's leadership ABC Imaging's 3D services have become a dominant force in providing custom models and prototypes to AEC professionals and design enthusiasts. Look for this team to continue to grow as they impress every client, every time.

FACES OF ABC

ELIZABETH COCKERHAM, Director of Business Development - Headquarters, VA

Before joining the senior leadership team in 2012, Beth Cockerham began working with ABC Imaging while at Group Goetz Architects (one of our first clients in the DC market) where she served as the Chief Administrative Officer for over 20 years. Beth's favorite part of her job is mentoring and guiding employees and setting up events at headquarters to celebrate its team members. When not at work Beth can be found spending time with her 5 month old grandson, reading, and spending time at the beach.

DOUG VAN ZEE, Digital Production Specialist - Seattle, WA

Joining the ABC Imaging team in November of 2016, Doug has quickly made an impact in both the Client Relations and Shop operations in the Seattle area. Prior to coming aboard Doug worked at Home Depot and had spent time as a camera operator for independent films and taught Taekwondo to children. Doug's favorite part of his job is working and spending time with his coworkers every day. When not at work, Doug can be found hiking/biking around the Seattle area, 3D printing, or working on producing his second independent game using Unreal Engine 4. Fun fact: in 2013, Doug got the chance to meet and chat with John Knoll, the co-creator of Photoshop!

STEPHEN MILLER, Client Relations Manager - HNTB, New York

Joining ABC Imaging in the fall of 2013, Stephen Miller lived in Louisiana, Georgia, and Canada where he earned his graduate degree in Latin and Ancient Greek (Immo Valde Infigo!) before settling in New York City. Stephen's favorite part of his job is seeing the confidence HNTB has in his (and the New York team's) work as they produce high-quality printing and keep the client's operations running smoothly. While at work, Stephen enjoys the excitement (and view) that comes with working in the Empire State Building; even when trying to navigate the hordes of tourists. When not at work, Stephen can be found playing music in several bands, building guitars, and exploring New York City.

COPING WITH HOLIDAY STRESS

The holiday season can be a time of joy, but it can also be hectic and stressful. Relax. Don't let stress suck the joy out of your holiday season. Use these nine tips to calm the pressure and keep stress under control so your holidays can be merry and bright.

- Create a game plan. Spend a little time up front getting organized. Make a list of what you need to buy. Try to shop ahead of time, before things are picked over and you're under pressure. If you'll be cooking, plan your menu. Think whether some items could be prepared ahead and frozen or refrigerated.
- Make a budget and stick to it. Money is one of the major stressors during the holidays. Don't dig yourself into a hole by overspending. A thoughtful gift doesn't have to be expensive. If money is tight, suggest a family gift exchange with a spending limit.
- Accept reality. Guests may arrive late. Your mother may get on your nerves. The turkey may be dry. Real life isn't a holiday special. Don't expect perfect decorations, a perfect meal, or perfect people. Try to go with the flow and enjoy what you have.
- Beware of unhealthy stress relievers. Holiday stress causes some people to fall into bad habits such as smoking, drinking, or eating too much. Think about any unhealthy habits you're prone to and better ways to handle stress.
- Create new traditions. Stressed out by the usual festivities? Try something different. Instead of cooking a huge meal on your own, make it a potluck. Ask adults to bring gag gifts or have a "white elephant" or used book gift exchange. Attend a local holiday concert, walk the neighborhood to look at holiday lights, or go sledding.
- Make time for your health. In the holiday rush, don't let your well-being fall by the wayside. Try to stay on your normal sleep schedule and get regular exercise. If you can't find a 30-minute chunk of time for exercise, break it up into three 10-minute sessions spread through the day.
- Watch out for caffeine and alcohol. Caffeine can raise your stress and interfere with sleep. Alcoholic drinks contain lots of calories, and drinking too much may make you feel depressed. Instead, drink plenty of water or try herb tea or seltzer.
- Give yourself a break. In the midst of doing things for others, it's easy to forget to take care of ourselves. If you feel stress building up, get away for a few minutes. Find a quiet corner and do some deep breathing, listen to calming music, or just sit. Or throw on a coat and slip outside for a walk.
- Enjoy! The holidays are supposed to be a time of joy and togetherness. In the flurry of the holidays, we sometimes forget what we're celebrating. Remember to savor the time with people you love.
